As You Make It

To the preacher, life's a sermon,
To the joker, life's a jest;
To the miser, life's money,
To the loafer, life is rest.

To the lawyer, life's a trial,
To the poet, life's a song;
To the doctor, life's a patient,
Who needs treatment right along.

To the soldier, life's a battle,
To the teacher, life's a school;
Life's "a good thing" to the grafter;
It's a failure to the fool.

To the man upon the engine
Life's a long and heavy grade;
It's a gamble to the gambler,
To the merchant, life is trade.

Life is but a long vacation
To the man who loves his work;
Life's an everlasting effort
To shun duty, to the shirk;

Life is useful or unuseful,
Life is false or life is true;
Life is what we try to make it
Brother, what is life to you?

Effect of Light on Vegetation.

The effect of light upon vegetation has been the subject of an investigation in the Agricultural Department at Washington for a long time, and after a long series of experiments the experts have come to the conclusion that light has more effect upon the vegetation and fruitage of plant life than heat.

If this conclusion is correct the fact explains the rapid and luxuriant growth of plant life in the northern regions of the earth and the coming into fruitage in so short a time. The summer days of the north are long and the nights short—there is so much growth-advancing daylight and so little growth-retarding darkness—that the vegetation comes to fruitage and maturity in a very short time compared to that reached in climates in which daylight and darkness are more equally divided.

The investigators intimate that the length of alternate periods of daylight and darkness also have a perceptible effect upon animal life, also. And if this be true, the man who recently brought suit for damages against the town authorities for cutting off the lights in his hen house may not be so crazy after all. He was lighting his hen house from four in the morning until ten at night, claiming that the artificial lighting in the morning and evening thus added to the natural daylight, stimulated his hens in growth and production of eggs.

Greenhouse men have reported success in forcing the growth, particularly of lettuce, by an elaborate system of electric lighting. They claim to have produced four crops in the time ordinarily required for three.

The results of the experiments at Washington were given out in a dispatch dated April 5th. It says: Government agricultural experts have discovered that plant life seems to depend on light rather than temperature for nourishment and may be controlled by regulating the hours of light and darkness.

The principle is revolutionary, but it rests on actual experiments in which it was demonstrated that plants subject to alternate periods of light and darkness in carefully determined proportions could be brought to maturity at any time of the year.

"Greenhouse experiments," says an announcement by the Department of Agriculture, "prove that the flowering and fruiting period of practically any plant can be made to take place at any time of year by darkening the greenhouse in the morning and evening if the day is too long, or by lengthening the day by artificial light if the day is too short."

"Spring flowers and spring crops happen to be spring flowers and spring crops, because the day at the season of their flowering and fruiting has the proper number of hours of daylight."

The discovery may be of the lightest importance in the future planning of cropping systems for different regions.

Eventually it may be found, according to W. W. Garner and H. A. Allard, scientists in the bureau of plant industry, who conducted exhaustive experiments, that the animal organism is also capable of responding to the stimulus of certain day lengths. They believe that the migration of birds may be an illustration, on the ground that direct response to such stimulus would be more in line with modern biological teaching than theories which assume that birds "go south" as a matter of instinct.

Experiments were conducted with a large variety of plants. It was shown conclusively that too little "sleep," or, in other words, too many hours of daylight, would prevent many plants from even reaching the flowering and fruiting stage.

It was found also that plants would not reproduce except when exposed to a favorable length of day, although to furnish daylight for flowering and fruiting might stimulate profuse vegetable growth. A length of day favorable both to reproduction and growth results in the "ever bearing" type of fruits.

By employing a dark chamber the scientists shortened or lengthened life cycle of plants and forced some of them to complete two cycles in one season. Violets, which naturally bloom only during the comparatively short days of spring, when covered with light-proof boxes for a time, were made to bloom again during the summer. Bicolor beans exposed to the light only five hours a day, flowered nearly three months earlier than plants in the light all day, but attained only one-eighth the light.

Temperature appeared to exert no influence in the test. A striking illustration of the relative unimportance of temperature, was given in that fact that plants kept in the dark for a part of the day, underwent in midsummer the changes that in nature come in the fall and that heretofore have been attributed to lower temperatures.

This was true even when the dark houses registered a higher temperature than the outside atmosphere. Iris kept in artificial light for eight hours a day bloomed in two months, while others in the same temperature, but without artificial extension of the day, required months longer.

"The length of the day," the department's announcement said, "is proved to be the most potent factor in determining the relative proportions between the vegetative and fruiting parts of many plants. Indeed fruiting may be completely suppressed by a day too long or too short. The new principle undoubtedly explains the erratic behavior which has been observed with many crops when they are shifted to different latitudes."

The new principle was said to explain why many plants grow most luxuriantly near the northern limit of their range, where the long day permits maximum vegetable growth before the short day intervenes to start reproduction—Ex.

Aluminum Brass.

Experiments aimed at developing the resistance of brass to the action of sea water, with a view to its employment for constructing submarines in France, have, it is reported, shown some remarkable results from the addition of aluminum. The internal structure of the alloy is strikingly changed by a very small percentage of aluminum and the color changes are surprising.

From half of 1 per cent up to 5 per cent of aluminum gives the brass a deep golden color. If the quantity of aluminum is increased beyond 5 per cent a superb rose color results, which reaches its maximum when the aluminum amounts to 7 per cent. With 10 per cent of aluminum the color turns to a silvery white.

Man's Debt to the Horse.

Not only has the horse inhabited the earth for many millions of years, but throughout the ages he has made the world ring with tales of equine valor. From Pegasus, the winged steed, who aided Bellerophon in slaying the monster, Chimera, down to the 16,000,000 horses which helped the allies to win the World war, they have served man well, and oftentimes purchased his safety with their lives.

Giving has made more beggars than taking away.

THE CAPITAL CITY

Washington, the heart of America, is one of the most beautiful of the World capitals, but Detroit is the city of great beauty and is the liveliest and busiest city in America. There is no such congestion at the corners of the department stores in the Capital City as in Detroit. Perhaps you will be a bit surprised when I tell you that the weather in Washington has been unusually mild. The Capital City was blessed during the holidays of rare quality, clear air and bright sky. It is said Washington's Decembers are as a rule free from snow. Snow generally comes about the middle of January and February. We were very fortunate to see President and Mrs. Wilson Christmas Day driving out of the Executive grounds with Dr. Grayson. The President looked thin and pale and is very badly crippled up. He was brought to the automobile from the house by means of a wheel chair.

By way of the Royal Blue Line Motor Tours, we visited many historical places in Washington, South Washington, Alexandria and Mt. Vernon.

The White House is beautiful and grand, but not as large as we had anticipated. It is located between the United States Treasury and the War and Navy Building. The War and Navy Building contains five hundred rooms and two miles of hallway.

The Washington Monument is a stupendous shaft of granite, 555 feet 5 1/2 inches in height. The constructive work extended through a period of 37 years, and is the highest work of masonry in the world. An elevator brought us to the top of the monument, where we could get a bird's-eye view of the Nation's hub through windows placed in each of the four walls. The monotony of the 555 foot ride was broken by reading seals of the States of the Union, placed at intervals along the walls. Michigan's seal hung on the wall at 220 feet from ground level.

The Capitol and the Library of Congress are beautiful beyond description. The dome and lantern of the Library are finished in black copper, with panels gilded with a thick coating of gold leaf. The interior ceilings are adorned with names of famous men and women. The name of "Gallaudet" is seen among them.

The legations, embassies, consuls, the mall, residences of famous persons, are on the N. W. of the Capitol, the fashionable section.

The Portland, where Senator Townsend, of Michigan, is located when in the city, is around the corner from where the writer is sojourning. Pennsylvania Avenue is one of the famous streets of the world. It is the route on inauguration day for all processions from the Capitol to the White House, and Connecticut Avenue Bridge is the largest concrete bridge in the world.

Washington tomb at Mt. Vernon is a plain, brick structure, and by its side is the tomb of Martha. The tablet above reads "Within this enclosure rests the remains of General Washington."

The Lincoln memorial is situated in Potomac Park, near the River, on the axis of the Capitol and the Washington Monument. Thirty-one doric columns surround the structure, they representing thirty-one States at the time of Lincoln's death.

Also visited the Columbia School for the Deaf. It is located quite a distance out on Florida Ave., S. W. of the capitol. Found Mr. Arthur L. Roberts, our N. A. D. Secy-Treas., busy with the Nad as usual. A pile of about a thousand copies of the N. A. D. were being prepared for mailing. At that time of our visit the Kendall School and College were closed for the holidays, although we enjoyed a pleasant chat with some of the teachers, among them Dr. J. B. Hotchkiss. He renders a verse at the chapel every Sunday morning, praising the Detroit deaf for the success of the recent Convention. Spent most of the time with Mr. and Mrs. Roberts, who wished to be remembered to the deaf of Detroit and to Mr. and Mrs. D. I. Whitehead particularly, who kindly entertained them while they were in Detroit last summer. Had the privilege to talk with a boy pupil of the Kendall School, Pedro C. Santos, whose home is in Atlag, Malolos Bulacan, Philippine Islands. He is very ambitious and anxious to sit "up" into the world and is planning strongly to continue his education through the College.

We were invited to attend the eleventh anniversary festival of the Calvary Baptist Church, of which Rev. A. D. Bryant is the pastor, Tuesday evening, December 30th Mrs. Bryant (bearing wife of Rev. Bryant) was present and assisted the deaf in arranging the program, which every one enjoyed immensely. Mrs. Bryant is a very pleasant conversationalist and is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Benedict, of New York.

About one hundred and twenty deaf and friends at the festival table. Before the festival they had a program given in the chapel room under the direction of Rev. Bryant. Miss N. Nanney rendered "Bethlehem;" then three wise men (Messrs. Shepherd, Scott and Ridgway) appeared in Egyptian robes with rods, and were confronted by three angels impersonated by Misses Cook, Cornick and Marshall, who informed them that Jesus Christ was born. The three wise men then started to follow the direction of the star.

Oscar D. Guire, a student of Gallaudet College, whose home is in California, gave a graphic story of California's Valley of Death and how the gold and silver were found, etc.

Harry Lauder and Irby H. Marchman were at the festival renewing old acquaintances. Had the pleasant opportunity of meeting Mrs. Souder, wife of W. P. Souler, who has two deaf sisters, Mrs. Price of Los Angeles and Mr. Alley of this, and a deaf brother who lives in Pennsylvania.

Ladislav Cherry, of Illinois, a student at the Gallaudet College, attended the festival and wished through this column to send greetings to the Illinois boys in Detroit.

Harry Turner, who has a good position with the Government, wished to be remembered to his old friend, Horace B. Waters, of Detroit, who was an old friend in Oklahoma. He even explained how fine and manly Horace played baseball.

Introduced to John Unsworth, who lived in Detroit, twenty five years ago, and Wm. Lowell, who has a hearing brother, Joseph Lowell, who can talk the deaf language fluently. The brother is a lawyer by profession and lives at 1125 Seward Street, Detroit.

I visited the Bible Class, of the Calvary Baptist Church, January 2d. It was led by Mr. Flood. Meetings are held every Sunday evening. That evening the subject was "The Child and the Kingdom." Messrs. Souder, Flood and Bernstein spoke length on "The Cause and the Effect," which was instructive and interesting.

The "Lacide," where Mr. and Mrs. Vernier are living, is a very pleasant apartment building, and is located directly across from the statue of Martin Luther and the Memorial Church.

TEXAS.

PREAMBLE—About this time one year ago I began to write news items for the JOURNAL from Dallas, Texas. At that time I had no intention of becoming a regular correspondent for the JOURNAL. However, during the past twelve months I have sent in contributions on and off, some good, but mostly bad. It has been a hard job to gather up news and at times I have been up a tree for news, therefore a lot of the stuff I have sent in has been punk.

The coming year 1921 will no doubt see the Texas news in the JOURNAL become still farther apart, unless some one else other than myself takes up the task of writing, as I have several new jobs handed me by the Frat and Lit Society, and I think that I should give as much of my time as I can spare to my other work, so will wish everyone a Happy New Year.

Mrs. Tom Welch gave a birthday dinner in honor of her husband's birthday, on the 18th day of December. Mrs. Williams, of Ft. Worth, and about ten local deaf people, were present at the spread. The dinner was a swell affair, according to the code of our inner man, and—(confidentially we wish the Dallas deaf ladies would honor their husbands more often, if they would all invite me to be present).

After having been disbanded for the last few years, the Pastime Club and Silent Sewing Circles have been reorganized and set going in Austin, by the deaf ladies of that city. We are unable to give our readers the officers of those two organizations.

Mr. A. O. Wilson, Instructor in Tailoring in the Texas School for the Deaf, Austin, has become Lay-Reader for the deaf people in Houston and San Antonio, Texas, as well as Waco.

The Baptist Sunday School class under Mrs. Miriam Johnson, gave a Christmas Tree, on the night of December 23d, 1920, at the First Baptist Church, N. Ervay Street, Dallas, Texas. The following program was given:

Prayer—Miss McDaniel
Talk—Miss Johnson
Song—Mrs. Grover Morgan
Play—Mr and Mrs. T. E. Gill, with Mr. Tom Diz and Miss Birdie Freeman,
The Three Wise Men—Elmer E. Diz.

Santa Claus was admirably portrayed by Mr. W. A. Barnes, and everybody present received a remembrance of some kind. After Santa had distributed the presents from the tree, Miss Johnson was presented with a beautiful floor lamp, in consideration of her work with the deaf in this city.

Mr. Leonard Perry turned up in Dallas during the holiday season.

Carl Harris was the happiest of all Dallas deaf people, Christmas day. The reason is that he found a $10 gold piece on Christmas morning.

Claud Hughes, of Austin, spent Christmas and the holidays in Dallas, and returned to School the other day.

Roy Morrison, of Clyde, Texas, turned up in an honest-to-goodness cowboy outfit, and with a coat of tan that matched the suit. He is working on his father's ranch near Clyde.

Mr. Paul Elliott, of Little Rock, Ark., came to Dallas for a visit with his friend, Edwin Cochran, during Christmas.

Mr. E. Strong from Missouri, who claims he worked in the Goodyear factory, is at present in Dallas. Mr. Strong, like a good many other deaf men at present has been jumping from one place to another, with nothing definite in his head. In Dallas on account of his changing his name several times, he was held for the police for about twelve hours, and then released when he proved not to be the person wanted. The Police in Kansas City, and other Northern cities having warned the Dallas Police to be on the lookout for a deaf man answering Mr. Strong's description.

Mr. Oliver Freeman's mother and sister were present at the Christmas tree given by the Presbyterian Sunday School Class.

The Loyal Deaf Bible Class of the First Presbyterian Church gave a Christmas tree for the benefit of the deaf of Dallas, on the night of December 24th, 1920. Mr. Oliver Freeman made quite a good Santa Claus. Mr. W. K. Gibson gave thanks to the Lord for the many beautiful gifts, and Mr. Elmer Diz gave his story, the Three Wise Men, again. The deaf people presented Miss Edna Washington with a Tea Wagon. (Perhaps some leader of the cotillion can tell us what that is good for).

Mr. Frank Autrey stopped off in Dallas twice during Christmas week. The first time, on the 25th, he was free and single, even as you and I, but on the next day when he returned he was married. He went to Commerce, Texas, where he was married to Miss Willie Nicholson. The Autreys will be at home in Temple, Texas.

C. Jamison and Oscar Harrison, of Whitesboro, Texas, passed through Dallas on their way to Athens, where they went to visit Mr. Neal Allen. Mrs. Harrison remained in Dallas over the Christmas season.

Mr. Tom Davis, of Fort Worth, spent a few days during the Christmas season with his sister, Mrs. W. A. Barnes, in Dallas.

While the deaf of Dallas and Ft. Worth were making merry during Christmas, the Varley family of Whitesboro, was holding a reunion. Mrs. Lee Harmon (Minetta Varley) Mrs. Teet Byrna (Teet Varley), and Edna Varley, being the three deaf members of the family, Mrs. Harmon's husband, Leslie, was also present, as was Mr. Earl Reed, of Azle, Texas. Now we wonder what Earl Reed wants hanging round Whitesboro.

The Fort Worth Literary Society elected the following officers at their regular meeting in December: President, Mrs. Roy Greer; Vice President, Dan Faulkner; Secretary, Tom Rosser; Treasurer, Roy Greer; 1st Consul, Mr. J. W. Hale; 2d Consul, Tom Davis; Sergeant, Mr. Unwin.

Miss Gracie Gatlin, of Nacogdoches, Texas, spent the holiday in Dallas with her friends among the deaf people.

Messames Clifton Talbot and Troy Hill gave a party on the night of December 25th, with about forty people present. The party, which was given at the Talbot home in East Dallas, began with a general talk and get together meeting, after which games were played such as 42, Dominoes, Checkers, 500, etc. After spending the evening playing games, the guests were served with excellent refreshments, consisting of fruit cake, Angel Food cake, hot chocolate, and several different kinds of candy. It was deep midnight before the party broke up.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm R. Beckham, of Oklahoma City, spent a few days in Dallas during the Christmas holidays. Mr. Beckham having secured a week off from his work.

Miss Edna Acuff, whose home is in Austin, but who is attending the College of Industrial Arts, at Denton, Texas, during the present winter, came to Dallas for a part of her Christmas vacation.

Ernest Barnes is back in Dallas, after having spent a two weeks' vacation in Cleburns with relatives.

B. Whitlock, Paul Nirder and Hugh Munn, made a trip to Breckenridge, and Ranger Oil Fields, in hope of landing a good job, but they found the same conditions there that are all over the rest of the U. S., more men than jobs. Messrs. Munn and Nirder are back in Dallas now, but Branon went on to Abilene, Texas, and from there went to Clyde, where he is being put through the ropes by cowboy Roy Morrison.

Leonard King and Mrs. Una Biggar were both absent from Dallas during Christmas. Mr. King, we understand, spent the time with Mr. and Mrs. Flynn, of Fort Worth.

Rev. J. W. Michaels stopped off in Fort Worth long enough to deliver a sermon, before going to his home in Mountainburg, Ark.

Prof. W. H. Davis, of Austin, spent his Christmas vacation in the wilds of South Texas, along the Rio Grande River, deer hunting. We are unable to say whether he bagged any big game or not at present, but you can bet your boots he had a good time.

Dallas deaf people will give a mask party, either on the 22d of February or the Saturday night following, and then on the 4th Saturday in March, the Frats will stage a Nigger Minstrel under the leadership of Mr. Elmer Diz.

The Dallas Division No. 63, N. F. S. D., held a public Installation of officers and party on the night of January 1st, 1921, about seventy-one deaf people being present. Mr. W. A. Barnes had charge of the proceedings of the evening.

Mr. Fee Griggs (our own Pee Wee), left Dallas on December 31, 1920, and returned on January 3, 1921, with a brand-new bride. Mr. Griggs and Miss Susie Cunningham were married in San Angelo, Texas, on January 2d. This makes the 6th marriage of local deaf people in the last six months, and still they come.

On Monday night, the 3d, the deaf treated Mr. and Mrs. Griggs with a shower at the 1st Presbyterian Church. Many useful gifts were given the happy couple, and of course there was the usual raw-joke gift, given by our own Jester, His Majesty, the 23d.

It looks like Dallas was going to win the next convention of the Lone Star States Association of the deaf after all. The convention will be held the coming summer.

Mr. J. D. Lowery, of Waco, made a flying trip to Austin, in order to represent that glad fellow, "Saint Nicholas," at the School Christmas Eve. To say that J. D. had 'em guessing who he was, aint anywhere near being right. Nobody had any idea who it was, and if you want to know what kind of a Santa didhe make, just write some one of the kiddies at School. They'll tell the world fair, that J. D. is some Kris Kringle. Mr. W. M. Davis, of Austin, spent his Christmas vacation with friends and relatives in San Antonio.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Brooks, taking pity on the older boys and girls who remained in school over the holidays, entertained them with an informal party at their home in South Austin, on the night of the 27th of December.

The Dallas Twins, Albert and Elbert Townsend, spent the holidays with the home folks.

Mr. E. Strong has secured a job with Judge E. B. Muse in Oak Cliff, doing inside painting.

Ms. Toots Steibt, of Dallas, a deaf boy, who lost his hearing in a football game, and later went to Akron, where he kow-towed with Bunn Schowe, Jacob Cohen, and other well known deaf Firestone-ites, is in Dallas again, and in spite of the fact that he spent the greater portion of his life among hearing people, and can understand anything any one says to him, he prefers to use the sign language. (Do I hear any thing from the Lip Readers' Brigade.)

Miss Audie Rogers spent her Christmas vacation between Dallas and Gainesville, visiting friends and relatives. She went to Gainesville to see her brother Minnett and sister-in-law Kate Rogers, and her new niece, the latter member of the Rogers family being a new one on her. At present writing she is back in school.

Alvin Hendrix went home to Ennis for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Kolp came over for a few days visit with their old friends in Dallas. Although they are residing in Ft. Worth, for the present, they still consider Dallas their home, and according to Briscoe, they will move back as soon as he can land a good job over here. We all want them to return to "The City of the Hour," where dreams come true.

Mrs. Joe Hale, of Fort Worth, was in Dallas during New Year's celebration.

Robert K. Baird has returned to work for the Lambert Motor Company, after an enforced lay-off of thirty days, caused by a big fire in his plant during the month of November.

Well, guess I'll toddle along, 'ats enough.

SOME of the former Goodyear and Firestone employees, who have been expecting to return to Akron before very long, are somewhat worried about the temporary shut-down of the Ford and other automobile plants. There certainly will be a slower demand for tires, unless these big auto factories start the production of new cars. But no one need feel either doubtful or discouraged. The country is all right. Its natural resources are greater than any other country on earth. Only a little time is required to change the war chariot and its requirements for the car of peace and real, genuine, prosperity. Inflated prices of commodities must go, and then there will be an equitable adjustment in wages for manufacturing. Capital and labor will get together and accord each other fair play. Yes, there is a good time coming for all—including the deaf.

THE December issue of The Nad, the official organ of the National Association of the Deaf, is a neatly printed volume of one hundred and sixty-octavo pages, illustrated with halftones of the officials and committees of the recent convention held at Detroit, Mich.

Its text embraces the proceedings of the Thirteenth Convention (Detroit), the articles of incorporation, and a list of names and addresses of members catalogued by States. Secretary Roberts had quite a big job on his hands in classifying the details, which has been done with remarkable accuracy.

The book was printed by the Gallaudet Press, and is really a compliment to the printing plant and the efficiency and skill of the College boys who had a share in producing it.

AFTER serving the Missouri Institution as Superintendent for eight years, and twelve as teacher, Prof. J. Stewart Morrison has tendered his resignation, to take effect in June. It is understood that Supt. Morrison has offers in another line of work which are more to his advantage.

His Misdeed. He longed to find the road to fame, But not a highway bore that name.

He thought to glory there must be A level path that he should see;

But every road to which he came Possessed a terrifying name.

He never thought that fame might lurk Along the dreary path called Work.

He never thought to go and see What marked the road called Industry. Because it seemed so rough and high He passed the road to Service by.

Yet had he taken either way He might have come to fame some day. —Detroit Free Press.

GALLAUDET COLLEGE.

The Literary Society presented the following program on the evening of Friday, January 14th:

READING—"The Stolen Body," by Edward Harmon, '21.

DEBATE—"Resolved, That examinations at colleges should be abolished and the progress of the students judged according to their standing in daily classroom work."

Affirmative, S. L. Cherry, '23; Nathan Zimble, '24. Negative, Jacob Cohen, '23, Ernest Langenberg, '24.

DIALOGUE—"Her Defense," Messrs. Werdig, '23 and Lahn, '24.

DECLAMATION—"Norse Lullaby," Andrew Haines, P. C.

CRITIC'S REPORT, Charles Dobbins, '21.

The feature of the program was the Reading. The story was written by H. G. Wells, the celebrated English novelist, and dealt with subject of spiritualism. Mr. Harmon narrated the events in a dramatic manner which appealed to the entire audience. The debate was upon a homely subject, one about which all shades of opinion were represented in those present. The decision, however, was a tie. Mr. Dobbins, in the role of critic, was relentless, yet he did not forget to give praise where it was merited.

On Friday evening, January 7th, the candidates for admission to the Kappa Gamma Fraternity presented a comedy entitled "Guilty."

The Saturday Night Dramatic Club is to present a play based upon the opera "I Pagliacci," on February 19th. The cast has already been recruited and is composed of the talent of the college on the male side. It will be unique in that it will be a tragedy, for tragedies have been studiously avoided on account of the difficulty of emotional acting. Rehearsals have already begun.

The candidates for admission to the O. W. L. S. are now under probation. Mr. Otis Skinner, P. C., was seriously hurt on Sunday, January 9th. He was knocked down by a Washington-Baltimore-Annapolis Railway car, and suffered severe injuries on his face and nose, besides having three ribs broken. At first his life was feared for, but reports from the Emergency Hospital where he is confined, indicate he is recovering and will be well along the road to recovery before long. He comes from Massachusetts.

The outlook for the Co-eds basketball season and the unusual number of games scheduled has induced them to appoint Miss Lena Bible, '23, to report the games. These reports will appear in the Athletic Department of the Buff and Blue.

The officers of the Athletic Association for the second term of service were elected at a recent meeting. They are O. D. Guire, Jr., '21 (re-elected); First Vice-President, Earl Maczkowski, '22 (re-elected); Second Vice-President, Bernard Teitelbaum, '23, (re-elected); Secretary, Toivo Lindholm; Treasurer, Anson L. Mills, '23, (re-elected).

BASKET BALL

Lebanon, 41 Gallaudet, 26

Gallaudet went down before Lebanon Valley in Gymnasium Hall, on January 8th. She had known beforehand that Lebanon Valley was represented by a strong machine, but nevertheless, looked forward with anticipations of victory. Her hopes were not realized, however. Yet she had the satisfaction of knowing she had lost to a worthy opponent.

Gallaudet could hardly be said to have played her best. It was an "off" day for her. The team hardly ever presented a solid front. There was much loose playing, and in the final minutes the game was pretty rough.

"Lebanon Valley came in fast. She got a lead and maintained it—thanks to her excellent long shooting. At the close of the first half the numbers stood 19 to 16.

In the second half Lebanon again resorted to long shots and rolled up a safe margin. The game closed with the score 41 to 26.

Gallaudet, 36 Loyola, 22

In the Richmond Market Armory at Baltimore, Gallaudet again played Loyola College, of that city, defeating her the second time.

Loyola scored first on a free throw. Then Capt. Bouchard threw two long-shots. The game was rather slow in beginning, but increased in speed as it progressed. At no time did Loyola seem likely to deprive Gallaudet of her lead. The count was 15 to 10 when the half closed.

The second period was not characterized with any unusual playing. Gallaudet—continued to accumulate numbers. She played an all offense, all defense game.

To Capt. Bouchard belongs the highest praise. Always a Rock of Gibraltar on the defense, he now came forward to the offense by caging four field goals at a considerable distance. On occasions when team work was falling to pieces he would come forward and restore it by example as well as precept. It seems that on that night he caged as many goals as he had in all his collegiate basketball career to date. Aided by Baynes and LaFountain he clinched the victory.

Gallaudet Co-eds, 16 Geo. Washington, 68

The Co-eds sprung a surprise for the College by downing the George Washington University Co-eds in a basketball game, played in Gymnasium Hall on the 15th. Being the initial game of the season, it was a doubly welcome surprise.

The numerous former occasions upon which they did nothing but register defeat after defeat, had prepared the College to expect a different outcome. Misses F. Lewis, '21, Le Clerc, P. C., and Sandberg, P. C., were the individual stars of the game.

Work of Sponge Gatherers

Sponges are of many qualities, but the most highly prized is that of Syria, with a cuplike shape and a yellowish pale color, which is found in a number of varieties.

The large sponge fisheries are situated along the coasts of Greece, Syria, and of certain parts of the Adriatic, as well as along the Tripoli and Tunisian seashores. The fishing of sponges is effected by divers who are let down from a boat to depths of 10, 20 and sometimes 25 meters, and pull the sponges from the rock to which they are fixed. Some sponge fishermen use a long trident, but this system is fortunately falling into disuse, since it spoils the sponges. In better equipped fishing grounds the gathering of sponges is effected by divers provided with diving bells or dressed in cork jackets.

Upon being gathered the sponges are squeezed, beaten and washed, in order to rid them of their black coating and soft substance which gives them a very characteristic chlorine odor. When they begin to wilt they are subjected to a frequently renewed solution of sulphuric acid.

ORIGIN OF NAMES OF THE DAYS AND MONTHS

The Babylonians and Hindus began their days at sunrise, the Greeks and Hebrews at sunset, the ancient Egyptians and Romans at midnight. The period of seven days for a week has been in use among Eastern nations from the most ancient times, but was not used by the Romans until the fourth century, A.D., neither was it used by the Greeks in their calendar. It probably began from the changes of the moon, which are about seven days apart. The names of the days of the week came from mythology, being called by the ancients for their various gods. Sunday is so called because it was anciently dedicated to the worship of the sun.

Monday means literally the Day of the Moon.

Tuesday came from the Romans, Mars, the god of war.

Wednesday from Dies Mercurii—Mercury's Day.

Thursday from Dies Jovis of the Romans.

Friday from Venus of the Romans.

Saturday from the planet Saturn. The division of the years into twelve months is very old and had its origin in the months, coming from the Romans.

January comes from the Roman god, Janus.

February comes from the practice of expiation and purification of the Romans in the beginning of this month.

March from Mars, the god of war.

April comes from the Greek name of Venus.

May from Majores, the name of the Roman Senate in the original constitution of Rome.

June from Juniores, the inferior branch of the Roman Legislature.

July was named after Julius Caesar, who reformed the calendar.

August from Augustus Caesar, who conferred upon it his own name.

September was the seventh month of the Roman year and its name is the Roman equivalent to seven.

October from Octavo, the eighth month of the Roman year.

November from Novembris, the ninth month of the Roman year.

December is the Roman equivalent of ten. The tenth month of their year, which began in March. —Black and White Almanac.

ENGLISH AS SHE IS

We'll begin with a box, and the plural is boxes;
But the plural of ox should be oxen, not oxes.

Then one fowl is goose, but two are called geese;

Yet the plural of moose, should never be meese.

You may find a lone mouse, or a whole nest of mice,
But the plural of house is houses, not hices.

If the plural of man is always called men,
Why shouldn't the plural of pan be called pen?

The cow in the plural may be cows or kine,
But a yow if repeated is never called vine.

If I speak of a foot and you show me your feet,
And I give you a boot, would a pair be called beet?

If the singular's this and the plural is these,
Should the plural of kiss be nicknamed keese?

Then one may be that and three would be those,
Yet hat in the plural would never be hose.

And the plural of cat is cats, not cose,
We speak of brother, and also of brethren;
But though we say mother, we never say methren.

The masculine pronouns are he, his, and him,
But imagine the feminine she, shis, and shim!

So the English, I think, you all will agree,
Is the most wonderful language you ever did see.

The N. A. D. banquet held Dec. 10th, it seems, is still a subject for discussion. There was much interest taken in the affair it appears, when a number of individuals contributed from 50 cents to $2 each, toward its success, although they could not help to fill up the festive board.

Mr. Dunn, chairman of committee, has received a number of appreciative letters. Dr. Hall writes, he could not soon forget the courtesies shown him the couple of days he was here. He had a chance to see a little more of the city of mills and smoke galore, as well as of its silent citizens.

The Social League is staging a special entertainment for Saturday evening, Jan. 22d. Dancing and other amusements will be on tap after the stage presentation. Admission to this "Special," 35 cents for men, 25 cents for ladies, and 15 cents for children. Refreshments served free of charge. Come on, all of you.

The League will also have a banquet on Saturday evening, February 20th. Particulars will be announced later, but in the meantime all inquiries should be sent to Mr. W. L. Sawhill, Business Manager.

In December the League elected the following officers to manage its affairs: President, Vincent Dunn; 1st Vice-President, Geo. E. Grimm; 2d Vice-President, Chas. Reiser; Secretary, F. R. Gray; Treasurer, H. Danver; Business Manager, W. L. Sawhill.

The N. A. D. Branch will have a business meeting at the Central Y. M. C. A., 7th Street and Penn Avenue, January 29th, 7:30 to 11 o'clock. Everybody expects to be on hand.

Sergeant B. R. Sawhill left for Washington, D. C., January 12th, to attend his brother's burial in Arlington Cemetery, Friday afternoon, the 14th. Corporal Clyde S. Sawhill died of wounds received in action "over there," on October 3d, 1918.

Mrs. Rose Carroll mourns the passing of her mother, Mrs. Sorocco, who died recently. Mrs. Sorocco had long been engaged in the ice-cream business in Pittsburgh and was well known to many of the deaf people there.

Mr. and Mrs. Torrence Patton, of near Beallsville, Washington County, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bards for a week lately. They timed their visit opportunely, when they had no rush of work on the farm and there were social doings here. They have numerous friends hereabouts and have been enjoying their opportunities to the fullest extent.

One of the most interesting affairs that have taken place here recently was the birthday surprise party given Mr. John C. Craig, the very obliging caretaker of the "gym" and general factotum at the Edge wood school, Monday evening, Jan. 5th. It was no fake surprise either. It was a wonder the

The funeral of the Reverend John Chamberlain, D.D., Vicar of St. Ann's Church for the Deaf and General Manager of the Church Mission to Deaf-Mutes, was held at St. Ann's Church Wednesday afternoon, January 12th, at three o'clock.

Long before the hour set for the service the Church was thronged with members of St. Ann's and the different missions to the Deaf, which Dr. Chamberlain so long and faithfully served, and by the deaf of other faiths who knew and held him in high esteem. The front of the chancel was banked by numerous floral tributes from individuals and associations of the deaf. Victory palms tied with broad purple ribbon were fastened in front of the pulpit.

Promptly at three o'clock the procession escorting the casket passed slowly down the center aisle, led by the crucifer and followed by the Choir, Vestrymen of St. Matthew's Church, Trustees of St. Ann's Church, Deaf-Mutes, and the Missionaries to the Deaf, Reverends C. Orvis Dauter of All Souls' Church, Philadelphia, Oliver J. Whildin, of Baltimore, and Herbert C. Merrill of Central and Western New York, Rev. John L. Peckham, Curate of St. Matthew's Church, the Rev. William Walsh, Rector of St. Luke's Church, the Rev. Milo H. Gates, D.D., Vicar of the Chapel of the Intercession, and the Rev. Arthur H. Judge, D.D., Rector of St. Matthew's Church. The casket borne by eight pall bearers came next, followed by the family of the late Vicar. As the procession moved down the aisle, the clergy chanted the opening sentences of the burial service, Rev. Mr. Kent in the chancel signing. The casket rested near the steps of the chancel. Following is the order of the service, read orally by the Rector, the Rev. Arthur H. Judge, and in signs by the Curate of Ann's, Rev. John H. Kent:—

OPENING SENTENCES

PSALM—90

LESSON—I Corinthians 15: 20-28

HYMN—295

For all the saints, who from their labors rest,
Who Thee by faith before the world confessed,
Thy Name, O Jesus, be forever blest.

Alleluia.

Thou wast their Rock, their Fortress, and their Might;
Thou, Lord, their Captain in the well-fought fight;
Thou, in the darkness drear, the one true Light.

Alleluia.

Oh, may Thy soldiers, faithful, true and bold,
Fight as the saints who nobly fought of old,
And win, with them, the victor's crown of gold.

Alleluia.

O blest communion, fellowship divine!
We feebly struggle, they in glory shine;
Yet all are one in Thee, for all are Thine.

Alleluia.

And when the strife is fierce, the warfare long,
Steals on the ear the distant triumph-song,
And hearts are brave again, and arms are strong.

Alleluia.

The golden evening brightens in the west;
Soon, soon to part our warriors cometh rest;
Sweet is the calm of Paradise the blest.

Alleluia.

But lo! there breaks a yet more glorious day;
The saints triumphant rise in bright array;
The King of glory passes on His way.

Alleluia.

From earth's wide bounds, from ocean's farthest coast,
Through gates of pearl stream in the countless host,
Singing to Father, Son and Holy Ghost,
Alleluia.

APOSTLES' CREED AND PRAYERS

HYMN—515

There is a blessed home
Beyond this land of woe,
Where trials never flow,
Nor tears of sorrow flow;
Where faith is lost in sight,
And patient hope is crowned,
And everlasting light
His glory throws around.

There is a land of peace;
Good angels know it well;
Glad songs that never cease
Within its portals swell;
Around its glorious throne
Ten thousand saints adore
Christ, with the Father One,
And Spirit, evermore.

Oh, joy all joys beyond,
To see the Lamb Who died,
And count each sacred wound
In hands, and feet, and side!
To give to Him the praise
Of every triumph won,
And sing through endless days
The great things He hath done!

Look up, ye saints of God!
Nor fear to tread below
The path your Saviour trod
Of daily toil and woe!
Wait but a little while
In uncomplaining love!
His own most gracious smile
Shall welcome you above.

ANTHEM—Man that is born of a woman

KYRIE AND LORD'S PRAYER

PRAYERS AND BENEDICTION

The Rev. Milo H. Gates, D.D., Vicar of the Chapel of the Intercession, pronounced the benediction.

Rev. Dr. Judge delivered a message from Bishop Lloyd, who was unable to be present. It was brief but eulogistic of the deceased. Principal Gardner of the New York Institution interpreted it into the sign language.

After service, the pall bearers, Cadets Cassinelli and McKay, of the Sunday School Class, and Messrs. Elsworth, Victor Anderson, Archibald McLaren, John N. Funk, Dr. Edwin W. Nies and Charles C. McMann stood as a guard of honor while the people filed past the casket for a last look at the man who for forty-nine years was their spiritual guide, their tried and true friend.

That evening the remains were placed aboard the 7.55 train for Burlington, Vt., accompanied by the widow, her daughters Margaret Chamberlain, Mrs. Charles Shepard and her husband, and Rev. McKent. At Burlington transfer was made to a branch road running up into the mountains of Vermont, to Hardwick, sixty miles from Burlington.

The snow was deep on the ground in the high hills, and sleighs bore the sad little party the remaining twelve miles to North Craftsbury, the doctor's home town. His daughter Mrs. Adelaide Dastan was waiting to receive them. The casket was placed in the parlor and around it gathered old friends and neighbors, who had known Dr. Chamberlain from boyhood, many of them past the allotted threescore and ten. Rev. Mr. Petersen, Pastor of the The North Craftsbury Congregational Church, read the prayers and made a brief eulogy, then the march to the cemetery a short distance away was taken up. Rev. Mr. Petersen and Rev. Mr. Kent leading the procession, the pall bearers following. Then came the hearse, the family walking behind.

At the grave Rev. Mr. Kent read the committal service and pronounced the benediction.

He rests in the northeast boundary of the cemetery by the side of his daughter Helen, who died in childhood many years ago. There is a row of apple trees beyond the fence, to shower down their perfume petals when the spring breezes blow. Eastward the pine-fringed slopes of the hills overlook his grave. Here in youth and manhood he loved to wander, and on one of the hills almost in a direct line with his resting place, is the little bungalow he spent his last summer. Softlyward the wooded hills rise and roll away to the horizon, and eastward the crest dips down to a long slope to meet other hills. The western sun was dipping down, splashing the sky with a golden glory, and throwing long shadows of the elm trees across the snow. So we leave him in his quiet resting place among the hills he loved so well. The world is poorer for the loss of such a man, and heaven is richer by the gain of a brave, patient warrior, who has fought the good fight, finished the course, kept the faith. Surely to him is the victor's crown and the voice of the beloved Master: "Well done, thou good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of the Lord."

H. A. D. NOTES.

"The Garden of Time" was the subject of an inspirational theme discussed by Dr. Thos. F. Fox, at the Friday evening services held on January 14th. This Friday, the 21st, Rev. A. J. Amateau will be the speaker. All welcome.

During the services, as well as at the last business meeting on the 16th, a rising vote of silent tribute was given by the members in memory of Rev. Dr. John Chamberlain. The Secretary was also instructed to convey our sympathy to the bereaved.

"Social" was held on Saturday evening, the 15th. Wiedy of the conventional cut and dried programs, the audience enjoyed themselves in dancing and general conversation till nearly midnight.

"Movie Night" again held sway on Sunday evening, the 16th, with the usual record attendance. The next exhibit will be held on Sunday evening, January 30th, 8 P.M.

Please bear in mind that a Whist and Dance will be given at the S. W. J. D. Building on Lincoln's Birthday evening, Saturday, February 12th. Admission, 35 cents.

On January 16th, the Gallaudet Owls were entertained by Miss Deborah H. Marshall at the residence of her brother, Gordon, in Portchester, Ct. The afternoon was spent in the usual way, whenever those "birds" get together, besides having their photos taken. In the evening when all had acquired a real "country appetite," there was a bountiful supper, which was presided over by Mrs. Gordon Marshall and Miss Edith Marshall.

Papa Abraham Marshall, the octogenarian, was present and amused all by his reminiscences of old Hartford, etc. Those present besides the Marshall family were Mr. and Mrs. Gledhill, Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. C. Barnes, Miss Margaret Sherman. Dr. and Mrs. Nies and family were present as guests. It was such an enjoyable affair that the Owls regretted very much the absence of the other few, who were unavoidably absent.

DEAF-MUTES' UNION LEAGUE.

Next Saturday evening, January 22d, 1921, at eight o'clock the Deaf-Mutes' Union League holds its monster affair at the 22d Regiment Armory, Broadway and 168th Street. There will be a Military Exhibition Drill by the Fanwood Cadets, after which Companies A, B, and C, will compete to see which company wins the handsome silver cup presented by the Deaf-Mutes' Union League.

The Basket-ball games follow: First comes the contest by the celebrated Bloomer Girls, who play the team of the Deaf-Mutes' Union League, then the inter-schoolastic game of basket ball between the Lexington Five, of the Lexington Avenue School, and the Oaklands, of St. Joseph Institute for Deaf-Mutes will be played.

Dancing will follow. The committee have arranged a fine program, and the music will be by the 22d Regiment Band, so all who come will be treated to a variety of entertainment for one admission. Doors open at 7 o'clock, therefore those who arrive first will be able to secure the best seats, as there will be no reserved seats, except for invited guests.

On Saturday, January 8th, a Whist Party was held in the Guild Room of St. Ann's.

Something over a hundred were present, and quite an exciting contest for prizes kept the players busy till 10.30, when coffee and cake were served.

The prizes were won by Mr. M. Schnapp and Miss Louisa Radlein (who won the tie from Mrs. Led).

Mrs. Danford got the booby prize. The affair was in charge of Mr. Keith Watt Morris, assisted by Misses Eaton and Miller.

On Christmas, December 25th, a Christmas festival was held at St. Luke's church, on 42d Street, by the Lutheran Church for the Deaf. Three hundred and seven persons attended, being one of the biggest affairs ever held. Santa Claus distributed toys to the children, and every one in attendance was given a box of candy. Refreshments were served and a good time had.

On February 12th, the Lutheran Guild of Deaf-Mutes will give a moving picture affair. Particulars will be advertised in next week's issue of the JOURNAL.

Mr. Alexander Smith and Miss Mamie McHendricks were married at the residence of the latter on Christmas evening. The Rev. John H. Kent performed the ceremony. A collation was served afterward.

Thomas W. Hopper and Florence J. Fullings were married at the residence of the bride's mother, Belleville, New Jersey, Tuesday, January 4th, the H. Kent officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Koepfer, of Schenectady, N. Y., announce the birth of their son, Howard Frederic, born the sixteenth day of January, 1921, weight 8½ pounds.

OHIO.

[News items for this column may be sent to our Ohio News Bureau, care of Mr. A. B. Greener, 998 Franklin Ave., Columbus, O.]

January 15, 1921.—If Miss Bessie McGregor was ever surprised she certainly was last evening. The day was her—natal anniversary—never mind the number of years she has trod this vale of tears. Mrs. Wm. Zorn had notified her that, as customary, she would be over to help her spend the evening, and Miss Zell also, if nothing interfered. Daddy was commanded to sacrifice a yellow-leg for the evening dinner, and he obeyed willingly. The two were over on time and preparations were made for the feast, with happy anticipations of a fine eat. But, alas! About five o'clock, a party of twenty from Columbus friends having alighted from the car without her notice, appeared at the door with numerous packages containing goodies for the inner man. Bessie was notified there was a caller. She opened the door, and instead of one, there filed in a crowd of one and a shower of congratulations upon her. That she was surprised need not to be said, for she was unprepared for the company, but all the same soon regained her composure and arranged matters to make her guests feel at home. The expected chicken dinner had to go by the board, and suits place, the table was loaded with the good things the party had brought along. They were served in the self-serve fashion, and proved appetizing. Among them two cakes that would have done credit to a chef of pastry. Each was decorated with the figures of Bessie's age. After the feast, the evening passed in a social way, Mac and Mr. Zorn being interested in a game of checkers, the others in talk. Later "Mac" was prevailed upon to relate why Bessie is always even tempered. He said she was a Kentuckian by birth having been born just a cross the Ohio River from Cincinnati, Newport.

The winter was an unusually severe one, the river frozen and many boats along the landing destroyed by the ice. The night she was born "Mac" had been along the river front, and had pulled out of the water a tipsy fellow, who had ventured to cross the river. He placed him on dry land and told him to go home and change his clothes. The man after fumbling about his pockets drew out five dollars, and asked him to accept the money for saving his life. "Mac" declined it with thanks. The man then insisted that he keep one dollar as a remembrance. Bessie in her babyhood was a cross child. He consulted a phrenologist as to how to cure her, and was advised that when she got into one of these moods to pay no attention to her. This advice was followed, and to this he attributes the general disposition of Bessie in her later years.

Those who made up the party from Columbus were: Mr. and Mrs. Zorn, Mr. and Mrs. Ohlemacher, Mr. and Mrs. Beckert, Mr. and Mrs. Clum, Mr. and Mrs. C. Neuner, Mr. and Mrs. Wark, Mrs. Zell, Mr. Ernest Zell, Miss Ethel Zell, Miss Lamson, Miss Biggam, Mrs. Callison, Miss May Greener, Miss Toskey, Miss Bessie Edgar and the writer.

Mr. and Mrs. William Friend celebrated the former's birthday recently with a fifteen pound turkey as the piece de resistance. They had as their guests the families of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Kingry, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bard and Mr. Alonzo Kingry. Mr. Friend was given several tokens as a reminder of the occasion.

Regarding the removal of the School to Marysville, Superintendent Jones has spoken on the matter, and among other points raised, is that the quality of the land is not suitable for farming. In the Chronicle this week, he gives expression to the following:—

That the School for the Deaf should have a new home is well known to those who are intimately connected with it and who are responsible for it. But it should not be taken away from Columbus. The school has a history of almost one hundred years behind it here, and its traditions are all interwoven with the life of the capital city. Columbus is easily reached from all parts of the state, and most of the children can come and go to their homes alone. But were the school located away from Columbus as at Marysville, it would be very difficult. Parents would not want to risk their children to come to Columbus, change depot, wait for a slow train, go on to Marysville, and then make a trip of two or three miles in the country to the school. Neither would the authorities of the school feel like risking the children to make the transfer in Columbus from one depot to another and to make their trains in such a rush depot as the Union Central.

We hope the friends of the deaf will watch this matter very closely and carefully and be ready to speak their preference should the legislature reach a point of making a new location. The superintendent and all under him in the school will stand vigorously for Columbus as the proper place for the school. Rather than go away from Columbus we should many times prefer all the hardships that are connected with maintaining the school where it is, knowing that it would be far less troublesome than the inconveniences connected with the school away from Columbus.

Mr. George D. Frater, while gradually improving from the two operations he underwent, is not yet able to resume his work, but hopes to do so soon.

Part of the offices of the city government are housed in the Carnegie Library, just west of the school, and will continue to be for some time. The top story of the City Hall building was destroyed by fire Wednesday evening, and this has necessitated the moving out of the offices. Fortunately no lives were lost, though council was in session at the time just below the floor which was burning, and all the records saved, though some are somewhat damaged by water. The building was about fifty years old and was inadequate for the city's business. There has long been talk of erecting another in a more favorable place, and this will have to be done now.

At last the laboratory for the class in physics will be a real fixture, which has been lacking since the new school building was erected in 1899. The room was fitted up recently and the various apparatus needed purchased.

The pupils were dismissed from school at two o'clock Monday afternoon to witness the inaugural parade from Grant Avenue. The new governor, wife and son, expected to be in the procession, failed to show themselves out our way, and that was a great disappointment to all. His car left the procession at High and Broad Streets that they might view the line.

The basket ball game between O. S. S. D. and Ashville was lost to the former, 26 to 31.

OMAHA.

Mr. F. A. Clayton entertained the Limburger Cheese Club in the girls' study room of the School for the Deaf, on the evening of December 7th, and a jolly "big" host he was. After a "sumptuous" supper was served, the floor was cleared for dancing, both plain and fancy. Several amusing stunts were pulled off, and Scott Cusaden in a dark blue bungalow apron made a hit as a female impersonator.

The Harmony Club, recently organized, met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Treuke on Wednesday, January 5th. It is limited to ten members, eight of whom are unmarried—five girls and three boys. The girls went home during the Christmas holidays, and returned New Year's, bringing along chickens, rabbits, etc., which they took to the Treuke home, and prepared a bountiful supper. Then the boys washed the dishes while the ladies retired to the parlor to read and "chew the rag." Later on, a game of cards was the feature of the evening.

William Sabon, of Tecumseh, Neb., was in town to attend the Frat meeting and renew old acquaintances. He has gone to Newport, Neb., to husk corn. He was initiated into the mysteries of the order and is a full fledged Frat and brother now.

Lyman Hunt, of West Plains, Mo., also showed up at the meeting and surprised everybody, especially some of his old friends whom he had not seen for over twenty years. He is visiting with his mother for awhile. Joseph Kynel, who came home from Akron, Ohio, on account of lack of work there, added to the list of visitors at the meeting. He is staying with his folks at Clarkson, Neb., until business is resumed at Akron, which probably will be in the early spring.

The Frats Annual Mask Ball will be held Saturday night, February 19th, at the Swedish Auditorium. More particulars will be given later. This announcement will give every one plenty of time to plan on attending, and a record crowd is expected.

Saturday night, January 8th, the Omaha branch of the Gallaudet O. W. L. S. met at the home of Mrs. O. M. Treuke, while the Frats were in session. The election of officers for this year resulted in the reelection of both Mrs. H. G. Long as President, and Mrs. O. M. Treuke as Secretary-Treasurer. Refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Bingham, parents of Richard C. Bingham, have gone to Los Angeles, California, to spend the winter. A sister and brother-in-law accompanied them.

Dumb, Blind and Deaf.

Mr. Simpkins was complaining to his bosom friend Jenkins about the numerous ills his wife had brought upon him in the course of their association.

"When first I met her," said Simpkins, "I was struck dumb with admiration. When I married her I was blind with love, and now," he added, "I'm deaf from her everlasting talking."

PHILADELPHIA.

News items for this column should be sent to James S. Reider, 1538 North Dover Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

The news of the death, on January 10th, of the Rev. Dr. John Chamberlain of New York City, was keenly felt by his friends here. Although we knew that his age was growing such that he had not many more years to labor among the deaf, we were almost totally unaware of his last serious illness. He well earned the rest from his labors, but we sorrow with his widow and surviving children at the loss of their venerable family head, and with the congregation of St. Ann's Church for the Deaf of their chief Pastor. Dr. Chamberlain was personally known to many more deaf than those of New York and New England, where his labors among the deaf were centered. He was intimately known in All Souls' Parish in this city, which he had watched, assisted and visited on many occasions since the days of the late Henry Winter Syle—that was before All Souls' Church was founded. He outlived most of the old parishioners, but there are still quite a few left and more younger ones who mourn his passing. Of the former, the writer is one who will ever hold him in affectionate regard, having had the pleasure of entertaining him on a number of his visits to All Souls' Parish before the church moved uptown. He also entertained us on the occasion of the dedication of St. Ann's Parish Building, a kindness which is still fresh in our mind. Therefore, we tender and deepest sympathy to the family in their great bereavement.

Mrs. Sarah Jutt Duvall, of Baltimore, Md., spent the New Year holidays with Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Dautz-r in the rectory. She is the daughter of the late Mr. August Jutt, who was for many years an instructor in the Indiana Institution for the Deaf. Since the death of her husband about two years ago, she has been connected with the Red Cross Institute for Adult Blind, which has been largely engaged in reclamation work among blinded soldiers of the recent world war.

The five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jahn, of Frankford, was the recipient last Christmas of a gift that she will remember during her lifetime. It was a large and beautiful doll, two and a half feet in size, that cost the tidy sum of $30. It was given her by an aunt of Bethlehem, Pa. Only parents of a daughter can realize the great joy such a gift gives a little girl. The attachment that little girls show for their dolls is sometimes amusing. Our own daughter had several dolls and one bigger rag-doll. When all her fine dolls became subjects for the hospital, she took up the heretofore neglected nigger rag-doll and showed deep attachment for it, even taking it to bed at night. We can imagine how proud little Miss Jahn is of her big doll.

Quite a number of our deaf are still out of employment or waiting to be called back to their former places. We hope that they will not be compelled to wait much longer. Henry Friemel came up from Romney, W. Va., where he is employed by the School for the Deaf, to spend the Christmas holidays in his native city and among friends and acquaintances. He returned to resume his duties after New Year's Day.

Miss Nancy Prather, of Sellersville, Pa., paid her first visit to All Souls' Church for the Deaf last December 26th, and greatly admired it. She is a graduate of the Virginia School for the Deaf.

The Evening Bulletin, January 13th, reported the following item:—Two well-dressed men invaded the rooms of Miss Alice M. Clouer, a teacher in the Wingohocking Building of the Pennsylvania Institute for the Deaf and Dumb, Mount Airy, and stole jewelry worth $200.

"I saw the men in different parts of the buildings and grounds yesterday afternoon, but thought they were visitors," Miss Clouer said. "But when I saw them walking along the upper halls of the Wingohocking Building I became suspicious. Then I went to my room and found it ransacked."

The Philadelphia Local Branch, P. S. A. D., held a social at All Souls' Parish Hall on Saturday evening, January 15th. A pleasant evening was passed by those present.

The recent annual election of officers of the Cleric Literary Association for the present year resulted as follows:—President, Thomas E. Jones; Vice-President, Mrs. Nettie Hagy; Second Vice-President, Frank E. Dugan; Secretary, May Stemple; Librarian, Robert Bennett; Sergeant-at-arms, William C. Shepherd.

A special movie entertainment will be given at All Souls' Parish House, for the benefit of the Screen Fund, on Saturday evening, February 5th. This entertainment is specially arranged to be a longer show than usual given on Thanksgiving, and will cost extra. Admission will be twenty-five cents, payable at the door. Come and bring your friends, deaf and hearing.

Mr. Frank Sacks was granted a full pardon by the Board of Pardons after serving about half of his sentence to prison. Mr. Sacks is a young man yet, and was led into the path of error by a woman, who is still in jail. He is a Russian, and will make an effort to become naturalized, marry and settle down for good after this.

SAN FRANCISCO.

[Send news of interest to D. S. Luddy, 134 Primrose Road, Burlingame, or care of Bulletin Composing Dept., San Francisco.]

We love our San Francisco, but oh! You! Atlan ty-one!!! Neither San Francisco, the saint, nor Los Angeles, the angel, is the wickedest city in the world.

At the Annual Tournament of Roses, at beautiful Pasadena this year, the University of California football team, champions of the Pacific Coast, simply crushed the much-heralded Ohio team, champions of the Middle West. An expert says: "The California team is the greatest team I ever saw, and I have been seeing all the best teams, including the big ones of the East, for the part twenty years. Together, I think, they constitute the greatest American football team ever organized."

Cheer up, Ohio! The next President is from Ohio!! Also the would-be-President is from Ohio!!

A couple of young deaf fellows, noticing a Chinese woman and her Americanized daughter looking at us, the writer joshingly told his young friends the Chinese were admiring them. Imagine our surprise, when the Chinese girl said plainly in the sign language: "So you are deaf-mutes?" She was a pupil at the Berkeley School.

A prominent deaf couple in Berkeley were riding in a street car, and their little daughter was talking to her father in the sign language, the father speaking to her. Near them was a couple with a little cross eyed girl, whose father, not knowing the other gentleman was deaf, asked him: "Is your daughter deaf?" Being a semi-mute and a good lip-reader he simply answered by asking: "Is your daughter cross-eyed?" Of course this ended the conversation.

Some time ago a football match was played on the Presidio campus between the Chinks and the gentlemenly little brown men from the land of the Mikado. As far as football science is concerned the Japs won, getting even for a previous defeat. The chinks were sore and were leaving the field carrying the honorable ball with them.

The honorable Jap captain went after them and attempted to take the honorable ball away from them. Instead he found himself sprawling on the honorable ground. This started a fight, and when the honorable police put a stop to it, four Japs and only one Chink were sprawling on the ground and had to be sent to the hospital for repairs. It has been rumored there was great rejoicing in Chinatown over the big (?) victory.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lynch, of Stockton, spent the holidays in San Francisco and Berkeley.

Mr. William O'Rourke, the well known deaf plasterer of San Mateo, reports work is plentiful and that the twin cities of Burlingame and San Mateo are growing fast.

On December 20th a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. V. Majorian, of Redwood City, and has been christened Richard. Mr. Majorian is employed by the Schmidt Lithographic Co. in San Francisco and is a well-known frat.

Miss Darling, of San Jose, is spending a few weeks with the Gores, of Millbrae.

San Francisco and Berkeley Frats celebrated the holidays with different entertainments at their lodge rooms.

Mute Admits Taking Horse

Friederick, Md., 30—The identity of the man who drove away with a horse and wagon belonging to Dr. Charles H. Conley was established at a hearing as George Atzer, a mute. With Prof. Ignatius Bjorlee, principal of the Maryland State School for the Deaf, as interpreter, Atzer testified in the sign language that he had no intention of selling the team. He said he was a native of Switzerland and for the last five years had been employed at Shelbyville, Ill. His parents are dead, and he has no relatives or friends, he said, and wanted to die. He appeared at Montevue Hospital, the county almshouse, about two weeks ago, and was given food and shelter. He left the institution last Sunday and nothing more was heard of him until he was arrested and lodged in jail, charged with stealing the team.

The authorities are puzzled over what to do with the man and he is still in the custody of the Sheriff—Ballo Sun.

It is said the Koreans made gunpowder as far back as 300 B.C.

AKRON, OHIO.

The shut-down of the Ford Motor Company of Detroit, for an indefinite period, and laying off 50,000 employees, came to us as a shock. We are asking the questions—"What does it mean?" "What will be the effect on the rubber tire industry generally and the Goodyear Company in particular?"

A Watch Night meeting was held at Goodyear Hall by the young ladies with their husbands or escorts on the night of December 31st. Miss Jennie Jones was the originator of the party. Fred Moore, who came all the way from New Jersey to spend the holidays with his old friends at Goodyear, was present and made the lion of the evening by the dear creatures. The merry crowd danced the old year out and danced in the new with gusto and joy unconfined. They were all optimistic and hoped for better things to come in the year just born.

Thomas J. Blake, of Maryland; Thomas J. Cusaden, and Mr. and Mrs. High Miller, sent Christmas cards to the Club Room at Goodyear Hall with a remembrance and greetings to everybody.

The basketball game has precedence over all indoor sports here at this time of the year. Russell S. Moore is the manager. The club is sometimes defeated, but always comes up to the scratch.

A grand reception was given to the newly elected officers of the local Frats, on their formal installation at their hall on New Year's eve.

The new committee in charge of the Club Room, appointed by President T. J. Blake before he went home, is as follows: C. C. Marshall, Chairman; Arthur Classen, Geo. Barron, Scott Cusaden and W. Roller. They keep good order in the room.

The rate of wages has been cut down to 35 cents an hour, on an average, at the Dover and Malvern plants of the Robinson Clay Products Company, to take effect after New Year. The deaf men are taking it philosophically, as they are aware that they cannot hope to do better anywhere else.

Fred Fancher, our auto-to-hire chauffeur, traded his big Packard Car for a handsome Ford Sedan with one hundred dollars to boot before he went back to the Blue Grass Country.

It was V. S. Birek, president of the Gallaudet Alumni Association here, who issued the invitations to the Gallaudet Day Memorial meeting on December 10th. He opened the meeting with stating the object of the observance of the day. William Pfunder, a graduate of "Old Hartford," who does credit to that grand old institution by his general intelligence and particular knowledge of parliamentary law, gave reminiscences of his college days. John T. Hower made an address on the life and work of the first Gallaudet, and on the reasons why the silent people should give Rev. Thomas Hopkins Gallaudet all honor. Miss Hazel Pike recited the poem "Gallaudet Day," in a beautiful and captivating manner.

F. X. Zitnik, from the land of Bohemia and Americanized as he was, yet had an eye for the poetry of motion as seen in Miss Pike's delivery, and it prompted him to say to the writer that a Dramatic Club composed of the ladies of Goodyear would be an excellent feature of our entertainment, and he hoped the dear ladies would keep up the practice in the sign language.

Herman Kohn was surprised the other day to receive a ladies' fur coat, valued at $450, from his uncle in Madison, Wisconsin, which he ordered for his wife for a Christmas gift last Spring while they both were there on a visit. Mr. Kohn says the valuable fur is that of the skunk without its unpleasant associations. As his wife is not here, however, he will keep the coat in cold storage.

Mr. Clerc, who was one of the first men to be laid off at Goodyear last May, has sold his house, said to be one of the prettiest on Goodyear Heights, at a price equal to his equity and the mortgage less one hundred dollars cash. His wife is staying with her mother in South Carolina temporarily.

Walter Berry and Herman Kohn are beneficiaries of the Workers' Compensation Act. They both received their injuries at the Malvern plant. Russell Moore is assisting them with the doctors and lawyers.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Ellis, of this city, visited Saturday and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John J. Pershing in Springfield. Mr. Pershing is a cousin to General John J. Pershing, American Commander in France during the World War. Mr. and Mrs. Ellis also attended a fraternal social. There were thirty silent in attendance at the social Saturday night until midnight. Prof. Wm. Zorn, of Columbus, gave an interesting lecture—"The News-Republican, Kenton, O., Jan. 4th."

About ten deaf children have returned to school in Columbus after two weeks' Christmas vacation, with happy memories of Christmas trees, Santa, and visits they will appear refreshed in school rooms for the term till June.

There was a Christmas entertainment at the Church of Christ, Friday evening, December 24th, for the deaf people.

Elmer Siegfried postcarded me last week that he is in Sunny Florida, as close to Cuba as possible. He will sail in a couple of weeks for Cuba, for a few days' sojourn. Elmer is some "sunny traveler." His home is at Monon, Indiana.

Ray Haney, of Ravenna, and Perrin Borden, of this city, laid off at Firestone last summer, received their annual Christmas greeting from the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company. The greeting was in the form of a new $1 bill enclosed in envelopes, which were mailed to them before Christmas with the expressed best wishes of the Company.

Ray Haney, of Ravenna, was a visitor in town Monday, and he reports all the deaf seem to be in good health in that city, except Charles Furry, who is confined to his home with some ailment.

The school for deaf children, which is at the East High School building, closed December 30th, giving about ten silent pupils ten days of vacation. They were back to school January 3d. Their teacher is Miss Gertude Hatfield, formerly of the Ohio School at Columbus.

The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company launched a cut in wages and salaries among the present employees and office workers, Wednesday, January 5th. The employees will get a reduction in wages ranging from 12½ to 20 per cent, which will be effective January 10th. The "White Collar" office workers and officials also have their pay cut from 15 to 20 per cent, taking effect January 15th. No more men are being taken on full time a week after receiving the notice.
